

Dear Baldwin-Whitehall School District Community,

This past school year was one of the most memorable in our District's history. By focusing on our year-long goals of safety and reliability during the pandemic, I am proud to say that we began this year by offering fully remote classes and ended it by being able to safely and confidently offer in-person classes to nearly every student whose families chose that option.

I know that many of you who read these updates about our District do not currently have children who attend our public schools. In fact, some of you may have children who attend private or charter schools instead.

Still, we all belong to the same community, and we are all interested and invested in creating the best possible future for our children and our region.

In this spirit, I would like to take this opportunity to invite all of our area families with school-age children to consider the option of attending Baldwin-Whitehall public schools in the 2021-2022 school year.

With invested universal commitment to individualized learning, our District continues to make significant strides in academics, athletics, and the arts. Our students benefit from having 1:1 access to state-of-the-art technology, challenging, innovative curriculum, and opportunities to compete at the highest levels of athletic and artistic competition available.

Students enjoy a future-focused education designed to help them pursue their interests with a healthy balance of passion and practicality, and the lifelong support of an alumni network whose distinguished members have made outstanding contributions to fields ranging from politics and science to arts and activism.

Our community invests in us so we can provide our students with an enriching education, a strong foundation for future success, and meaningful connections that will last a lifetime.

If you want to experience how a tuition-free Baldwin-Whitehall education can provide transformative opportunities for your children, please contact us to tour our schools, or to register for Fall 2021 enrollment.

Whether you have children who attend school in our District or elsewhere, I want to offer a heartfelt "thank you" for all you do as a resident to help us provide a safe and rewarding education for every student we serve. We strive to do our best every day, and we know that we could not do it without you.

When you are ready to join us, you are always welcome home within your Baldwin-Whitehall schools.

Sincerely,

Dr. Randal A. Lutz,
Superintendent of the Baldwin-Whitehall School District
